Canada War Costs Rises to Billion

Parliament to be Asked to Vote $1,300,000,000 for 1941-
1942; Ordinary Expenditures
Cut

Finance Minister Dingley is asking parliament to vote $1,300,000,000 to be spent during 1941-42 for war. Appropriations for this purpose were 700 million in the present fiscal year, and the costs are expected almost to double.

Main estimates amounting to 443 million have been tabled, and this makes a total expenditure for war and ordinary activities of $1,743,131,000.

The entire national income of Canada is slightly over five billion dollars so the contemplated expenditure for war in the year 1941-42 may approach almost half the entire national income.

In asking for a vote of 1 billion 300 million for war expenditures, he specified (1) security defence, peace and order in Canada; (2) naval, military and air operations in or beyond Canada; (3) continuance of trade by insurance or indemnity against war risks; (4) carrying out measures resulting from state of war by governor in-council.

The expenditure was divided as follows:

Militia services, $268,286,000;
Naval services, $57,997,000;
Air services (home war establishment and overseas) $41,188,000;
British Commonwealth Air Training Plan $86,294,000;
Other defence services $4,155,000;
Department of munitions and supply, $61,961,000;
Other departments of government, $18,540,000.

Commenting that a large part of the population are now living at a level that can bear little of the increased burden, he said, that the burden on the remaining part becomes the more staggering.

The appropriation of 700 million for current year has been overspent by 175 million, and there will have to be a supplementary bill passed before March 31.

Opposition leader Hanson said that Canadian people would meet their obligations if it took their last dollar. He will ask government how many cost-plus contracts have been awarded since Sept. 1, 1939, the identity of the firms and any revisions that have been made.

Expenditures of 433 million will be required for all other requirements but war. This is a cut of 18 million on non-war expenditures previously authorized, and a reduction of 92 million for the total of the year ending March 1940.

Unemployment insurance act means an increase to the government of $8,000,000. There is increase of 7 million in interest and other public debt charges; the census is to cost $2,750,000; administration of Unemployment Insurance Act will cost $2,700,000. Post office services are increased almost 2 million; Maritime freight rates $1,450,000; old-age pensions $612,000; coal subsidies $600,000; ad-

An outline of provincial department of agriculture services was given by B. J. Whitbread, District Agriculturist, Calgary, who elaborated on livestock feeding and regrassing.

On Wednesday, Feb. 26, a second meeting was held in the Alston Hall, at which further business was discussed and the member enlarged. An address on "Poultry Management in Alberta" was given by E. R. Nicholl, provincial poultry fieldman, Lethbridge.

Massey-Harris Show Interesting Program

A good crowd was in attendance at the Massey Harris moving picture entertainment in the theatre last Thursday, sponsored by the Massey Harris Co. and W. H. Turley, local dealer. H. D. Buocher, assistant manager, Calgary, presented the films, assisted by F. W. Tweedle and J. W. Caswell.

One particularly interesting film developed the thought of an approaching labor shortage and the necessity for power machinery which would go still farther in efficiency. This film had been arranged by John Martin, publicity director of Massey Harris, and showed combining scenes at Vulcan and Claresholm. Featured was the new one-man, self-propelled combine, which tied in with the shortage of man-power likely to develop with the calling of men to the colors and the need of providing against this shortage with equipment requiring a minimum of man-power.

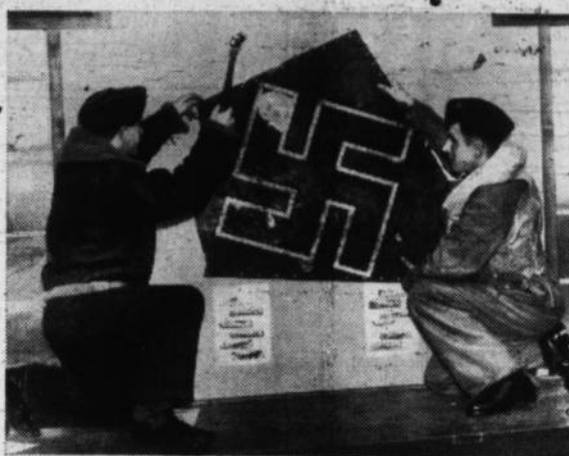

A picture called "Kinsmen" traced the progress of wheat from seed to market, down the great lakes and across the ocean. A news reel depicted the progress of the war and other films presented various implements and showed the savings they effected for farmers.

Prizes were awarded to members of the audience, with the first prize of a $25 credit on a tractor, combine or thresher, being won by Raymond Howerton of Champion. A $10 credit on a one-way disc, drill or binder was won by Jack Nafziger of Vulcan and a set of wrenches was won by Ray Angus of Vulcan. The ladies' prize of a box of chocolates was won by Mrs. Peter Flebotte of Ensign.

(By the School Reporter)

The annual banquet and dance of the Students' Union of the Vulcan High School was held Friday evening, Feb. 21, in the L.O.O.F. hall.

At half-past six, 265 parents and students sat down in the banquet hall, which was gaily decorated in the school colors of green and white. Flowers provided by the school board lent the tables an attractive air. Following the well-catered banquet were a few toasts, with Leslie Warden, president of the Students' Union, acting as toastmaster.

A toast to the King was proposed by Lillian Clark and answered by all singing "God Save the King." Kaye Craig proposed a toast to the ex-students, which was answered by Mildred Ulrich. A toast to the school staff was given by John Rushfeldt, with the reply by O. J. Doney. Lola Bateman proposed the toast to the school board, which was answered by L. H. Jones. Councillor P. McAskill answered the toast to the Town of Vulcan, proposed by Donald Greene. A toast to the ex-students on active service was given by school principal W. L. Irvine, with Robert Munro making the reply. Thanks was then extended by the toastmaster to all who had acted on committees and an invitation was extended to the gathering to attend the program to be presented in the upstairs hall.

The program numbers were announced by vice-president Frank Hoskyn. They consisted of a vocal duet by Mary Spaeth; two numbers by the newly organized high school orchestra, conducted by R. E. Acclaimed as one of the most successful of the annual high school affairs, the entire evening was greatly enjoyed by the large crowd of students, parents and ex-students present.

Diversified Farming

MEETINGS are to be held throughout the province to discuss what may be done in the way of greater diversification in agriculture. These meetings will no doubt be well attended, in view of the immediate outlook for wheat, and the general warning to reduce rather than increase. What the result may be is a question, but new and practical suggestions may be uncovered.

A number of farmers, particularly in areas adapted to stock raising, have been gradually reducing on wheat acreage in recent years, and building up the livestock end of farm husbandry. They will no doubt continue along these lines. It will be much more difficult for the farmer working on narrow margin to make any substantial change in his operations. He has no capital to invest in livestock, and the net result of a general turn to hog, beef or dairy production might mean only an upset to those markets, and the same situation as has been created in the wheat world.

There are areas, however, which are admirably fitted for mixed farming, but which have fallen into the wheat growing class without being conspicuously adapted to No. 1 wheat. It is forecast that dairy and meat demands will grow domestically as well as overseas, and that prairie farmers can meet these demands by more attention to fodder crops and to livestock.

Dr. Motherwell, former minister of agriculture, is a supporter of a clearly defined grass growing program for the prairies and he urges that it be undertaken now instead of ten years from now. He was thinking in terms of Saskatchewan, and areas which are definitely dry. He said: "Either the land goes or we go. If we take good care of the soil, it will take good care of us, provided that greed does not intervene. Or else the jig is up for the half-section farmers who are in the large majority."

In this area soil conservation is of concern, but not to the same degree as Saskatchewan. However, the farm income is of major importance, and the best use to which farm acres can be put to ensure adequate farm revenue. The meetings which are likely to be held at various points within the next few weeks, should be worth attending. They may offer suggestions which will recommend themselves to the farmer with small resources. There is no doubt in the world that mixed farming assures a steadier income and better farm living, than a one-crop proposition.

Another Fund

ANOTHER dominion-wide charitable organization has been established. It has for its purpose the collection of funds for air raid distress victims in Great Britain. The Canadian money collected will be turned over from time to time to the Lord Mayor's fund in Great Britain, which supplements government provision for air raid victims by prompt gifts of clothing and cash. Relief is distributed through civic authorities in different parts of the United Kingdom. It is presumed that there will be district organizers in Canada, and prestige is added to the new organization by calling it the Queen's Canadian fund for air raid victims.

Everyone of these innumerable organizations has a distinctive "pull" on the sympathies of people of Canada. Certainly nothing is closer to the hearts of the majority than the fate of families rendered homeless by the devastation of bombs. It is probable that some people will feel more urge to give money to this cause than to certain other phases of war charity. It would appear from the setup that quite a proportion of the funds collected will go direct to the cause.

But pretty soon, as these multiple new demands develop, we are going to crash against the cold, hard fact of individual inability to support everything. It is not a question of what the average person would like to give, but what he is able to give. Government taxation is already heavy and likely to become heavier. In addition to this the government is also pushing a campaign for the loan of every dollar that can be spared from necessities month by month for the duration of the war. A good local move has been made in pooling certain major charities under the head of "war charities fund," and this should tend toward efficiency. But outside these main charities are half-a-dozen others—all good, all deserving—but all bearing down on the same people.

Then in every community there is the upkeep of local organizations and groups—all good, all deserving. Scarcely a day passes in the life of the average business man that he is not asked to buy a ticket ranging in price from two bits to a dollar for some purely local cause.

Just how is the person of small income going to meet all these requests, without drastically reducing on his living expenses? And is it in the interest of general national business life to cut deeply into food and clothing requirements?

There has never been a time when the average person has had to do such wrestling with his inelastic money resources, to make them cover the bare necessities of his living, and encompass also the never ceasing calls rising from the war. It is little short of miraculous what is being done by the great majority of people in their desire to share in the burdens created by the war. There are few people who are not seriously alive to the national needs, and to the merits of the many war charities. There are few who are not anxious to aid every cause at home and abroad. If they are obliged at times to say "No, I cannot," it may generally be accepted that stark necessity has brought the refusal.

Pertinent Topics

DISCUSSED BY H. C.

The sort of democracy in operation at Washington is the sort that brought France into eclipse. Hatred of Roosevelt, for which he cannot be held wholly blameless, actuates some of the Democrats opposing his lend-lease bill. His successes and the manner in which he achieved them embittered many Republicans to the point where they will oppose anything he sponsors. They profess to favor aid to Britain short of war but partisanship drives them to favor aid to Britain short of success.

The editor of the Saturday Evening Post and Senator Wheeler declare they are not pro-German but want Britain to win. John Wilkes, the cause of much rioting in England told King George III afterwards that he himself was never a Wilkesite.

Some of those Congressmen who favor "aid to Britain but" have read Berlin and Rome predictions that it will not arrive in time to save Britain but they go on debating as if they desired the prediction to come true.

Ex-President Hoover is not as dull as he looks; consequently we do not believe he thinks Germany can be trusted not to snatch food sent to Belgium.

Arrested development of mental power except in the one line that made him a successful industrialist is the best diagnosis of Henry Ford's condition. His latest pronouncement that the Allies and Axis should be supplied with materials to keep them fighting until they exhaust themselves into stalemate shows what the occulted portion of his intellect can produce. It would pay the Ford Motor companies to see that he is not allowed to express anything from that source.

Britons and Canadians will not soon forget or forgive his foul slander that Britain is in the same category as Nazi Germany, and actuated by greed. Because of his abysmal ignorance on such matters, he might be forgiven, but how account for the malevolence of the man? We know that for good reasons he hates the Jews and can only guess that he secretly admires Hitler for his treatment of them and not so secretly, hates Britain for protecting them.

A writer says Mussolini rejoiced over the German defeat in the last war. Superficially perhaps, but at bottom he must have felt sore.

Hon. C. D. Howe says he does not mind criticism, but thinks newspapers should be better informed. Quite true. There are two reasons why they should be; viz., that they may not themselves be deceived and that they may not deceive others. Some of them were so ill-informed that they published Mr. Howe's statements and figures about plane and gun production in Canada.

Japan should try its pretence hand on China before undertaking the role of universal peace-maker.

The Premier's speech in parliament did not disguise the gravity of the situation but a return brought down the same day showed that we have already spent $202,000 on the soothsayers who compose the Information Bureau set up by Hon. J. G. Gardiner to assure us that we are doing or going to do all that is necessary for victory.

Having said that the U.S. is at war or nearly at war, Jesse Jones was only making the break worse by asking that it be stricken from the record. The record was made that day on the minds of the people by newspapers and radio, and his request gave it added emphasis. He should have upheld what he said by pointing out that Nazi, fascist and communist organizations had started war against the U.S. long ago, in the same way as they started wars in the countries already conquered.

When DeValera warned his people to prepare for the worst, it was an intimation that some time they might have to make some concession to their cursed protector.

The government at Ottawa has sufficient majority to do it, but ought to have sufficient sense not to do it. There was nothing gained by refusing to let Mr. Hanson ask his question about plane production. He got it in the newspapers next day and that is far better than getting it into Hansard. There was nothing gained by refusing to answer Mr. Church's question as to who travels on C.N.R. passes. We are all shareholders, and have a right to the information. It is not wise, nor is it good politics, to exercise power just to show you have it.

Isolationists are vociferous in their demands that the U.S. should spend billions upon billions in aircraft, tanks, guns and a two-ocean navy. What is said to be the objective cannot be reached before 1946. Against whom are they arming? If it is necessary during now, why was it not necessary during the past years of this century and all of the last? The answer is that Britain guarded the United States as she did Canada and saved these countries millions of dollars annually. The change now is due to Germany and to fear that the British navy will not be able alone to protect us, but it never occurs to the isolationists to be grateful for the immunity which they enjoyed for so long and the security which cost them nothing until lately when British sea-power became gravely menaced.

Britain and the United States have asked their Nationals to leave Japan in view of the danger of war. Japan, however, has not called its nationals home, so it might be well for Ottawa to tell the Japs to clear out of B.C.

Stalin is getting a record for being a quiet, enigmatical but shrewd negotiator, but the role he is playing may have been forced upon him. After his Finnish exploit, he was to trust his soldiers in any foreign mission. His soldiers went to liberate the Finns from capitalistic oppression, but came back to report the Finns better fed and clothed than Russians. Soviet Russia as an enigma has mentalities, but Stalin will hesitate a long while before sending another army abroad.

A cartoon in a government organ gloats over the news that the railway deficit may disappear, and represents blue nists as sorrowing over it. For this relief much thanks, but we must not forget that the added revenues are due to military business, an extraordinarily expensive way of re-

HOSTEL SKIING POPULAR IN QUEBEC

"Hosteling" is becoming increasingly popular with Canadian youth. Above are seen members of a party of "hostelers" photographed in the Canadian Pacific Windsor Station, Montreal, before one of three huge posters advertising the sale of War Savings

Certificates. The party consisted of young people from Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Hamilton and Philadelphia en route to spend the New Year holiday skiing at Iron Hill Youth Hostel near West Shefford in the famous ski-district of the Eastern Townships in the Province of Quebec. At the hostels the young people are provided for by "house parents", in the case of the Iron Hill hostel, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Denton, chairman and secretary respectively of the Province of Quebec Youth Hostels Association were leaders of the party.

"Where the blazes are your shots going?" shouted the sergeant, losing his temper. "I don't know," replied the recruit "but they're leaving this end all right."

It was considered very amusing when the German government offered to pay for cables sent from United States, offering suggestion for German radio programs. Most of the messages were thoroughly insulting, but the Nazis had to pay over $9000 for them. However, the Calgary Herald suggests that this may have been a "blind," to get useful information over when all other means failed.

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable Eye Opener

The curse of drunkenness. Having trouble with postmaster-general; an irksome business getting out a paper. The ideal summer resort in Never-Land

The following is the oratorical denunciation of a Hamilton clergyman on the curse of the saloon, and it is left to individual experience to pass on the accuracy of the judgment. "The saloon everywhere is a curse; in London, Paris, Berlin, Glasgow, Boston, Washington, Toronto, Denver—it is the same. It is the Gibraltar of greed, the Jericho of lust and crime, the slaughter house of character and health. It is the sewerpipe of misery and despair; a mighty tyrant, a menace to freedom (purity and prosperity); the birthplace of paupers and criminals, the foundation head of blasphemy, brutality and anarchy.

Postmaster-General Unpleasant
The postmaster general is getting mighty unpleasant with the Eye Opener, insisting that a paper which poses as a weekly should come out weekly, and not just as the editor takes the notion. The postmaster general's stand will please our infuriated subscribers who may now rest assured that we will "come out" once a week whether we want to or not, and whether there is any news or not. It is a confounded nuisance. If the postmaster general could only see our staff, he would not insist on our coming out regularly — perhaps not at all. Even the society editress has taken to laughing too boisterously at pink teas, but in other respects she keeps fairly straight. The others on the staff seem to alternate in their periods of solitary confinement. So to meet the demands of the postmaster general, we may have to get a whole new staff. We have our eye on John Harman, former editorial writer on the Detroit Free Press, and A. J. McGurn, formerly editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, and very able men they are if we can get them.

What we would really like to do is to call this the Daily Eye Opener, receive subscriptions as a daily and then come out weekly. Life would not then be so irksome.

A New Pleasant Resort
"I know a place I'd like to go to spend my holidays," said the weary looking man. "And I'm going there next summer. Now up in Banff, it is nothing but hotel, hotel, hotel, livery team, livery team, livery team. I'm going for a real rest. Let me tell you about this new place. It is only a few hours from here, and you get there it is paradise—far away from the tourist and the Ontario rheumatics. Nestling in the foothills, a fine rushing, ice-cold brook skeltering along, and a long, low log house perched on the bank. There are trout in the stream that jump out to you when you whistle."

"They don't climb trees?"
"Not unless they are scared. The place is not exactly a farm, but with all the best features of a farm. The men who run it keeps thoroughbred Jerseys and fancy chickens and a garden. He keeps the best of everything for his own table. He's got a colored cook. You ought to taste his trout, his coffee, his beefsteak. The boss has a cellarful of the best wines of France and he puts up his own ice.

"They have a regular swimming bath at the back of the house with a fine pebble bottom, and an ingenious system of hot water piping, that keeps the temperature just what you want it."

"I'll bet," said the listener, "that it is at the head of Sheep Creek."

"No, it is not at the head of Sheep Creek. There are no neighbors for 3 or 4 miles, and the old fellow never takes in more than one or two boarders at a time. The rooms are all light, prettily furnished and the beds have lavender scented linen sheets."

"Great Scott man. You must tell me where this place is. Have they anything to read?"

"Only all the latest papers and every illustrated magazine of any account. His library has all the best books as they come out. Oh you can't get lonesome."

"Is there any driving?"

"All you want. His horses are easy going and steady and he is tickled to death to have you take them out for exercise."

"It must cost something to live there."

"Only twelve dollars a week and no extras."

"Can't I persuade you to tell me where it is?"

"Oh, there isn't any such place or any such man. But I'll never quit hunting till I find something like that. And I'll never tell it, if I do."

Work

(Bowmanville Statesman)
I am the foundation of all prosperity. I am the fount from which all blessings flow. Everything that is of value in this world springs from me. I am the salt that gives life its savor. I am the sole support of the poor, and the rich who think they can do without me live futile lives and fill premature graves.

I have made Canada. I have built her matchless industries, laid her incomparable railroads, created her cities, and reared her skyscrapers.

I am the friend of every worthy youth. If he makes any acquaintance when he is young and keeps me by his side throughout his life, I can do more for him than the richest parent.

I keep bodies lean and fit, minds alert, and when I am neglected, both bodies and minds grow fat and sluggish. I am even the parent of genius itself.

I am represented in every paper that flies from the press, in every loaf of bread that springs from the oven, in every train that crosses the continent, and in every ship that steams the ocean.

Fools hate me, wise men love me. The man who keeps his hand in mine throughout his life never dies—because that which he has created with my help lives on after he is gone. The man who shirks me and scorns my aid never lives—never REALLY lives—even though he may continue to breathe.

Who am I? What am I? I AM WORK.

Farm Storage

Additional space for grain has been provided by grain and elevator organizations in Western Canada during the past year and plans are being made for the building of further storage space. A dispatch from Ottawa states that terminal space to accommodate 50 million bushels of grain will be built at Fort William-Port Arthur during the spring. When that is finished additional space provided will total more than 100 million bushels.

Even with the extra space it is hardly possible that more than ten bushels of wheat per acre will find available accommodation when harvest starts next autumn. So it is likely that much of the crop will have to be stored on farms. This would not be too bad provided farmers could raise loans on their grain. They would then be in a position to finance their affairs and would also gain the storage payments which run at 8c a year. There is reason to believe that the government is considering such a plan.

It would really be a great help to the farmers if they could earn the storage now being paid to elevator organizations, or at least a considerable portion of it. The money would have wide diffusion throughout the west and business would benefit.—Brooks' Bulletin.

North Air Bases To Reach Alaska

It has been announced that a system of airports will be built through Alberta and B.C. at a cost of approximately $9,000,000. This expense is being undertaken by the Dominion government.

It is understood that 7 bases will be built to handle the largest planes in an air route from Edmonton to White Horse. They will create an air line from the American border to Alaska, fitted for military or commercial planes. These will be built by the transport department.

Con. Leader Attacks Gov't Non-Essential Spending

Conservative Leader Hanson Criticized Census Expense, Publicity, Public Information

Criticizing the government for not making more substantial reduction in peace-time spending, Mr. Hanson, Conservative leader in the House of Commons said that no credit should be taken by the government for the fact that the C.N.R. is unlikely to have a deficit. This is taken care of by increased volume of transportation.

Mr. Hanson asked: "Why is it necessary, to take an isolated example, to spend a sum, in excess of $2,800,000 in taking the decennial census? I am quite aware, under the provisions of the British North America Act, the government is required to have the census taken. But Canada is at war."

"The taking of the census is a purely peacetime activity. It could be postponed and, as a matter of fact, in my view it ought to be postponed."

Mr. Hanson protested against the large number of employees on government publicity. He said available records indicated there were 86 employees in publicity with salaries aggregating $164,000 a year, and that of Bureau of Public Information alone, up to Nov. 30, 1940, had cost $202,000.

"I protest against this expenditure," he declared. "It is an unnecessary waste of public funds. The newspapers of this country will get the news and it will not be 'canned' news either."

Mr. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, warned against the dangers of inflation which he said would be ruinous to agriculture producers and small earners.

In support of his amendment calling for a compulsory interest-free loan he said there was danger, under the present system, of a small group of the wealthy obtaining huge quantities of interest-bearing government bonds and thus holding a lien on the Canadian people after the war.

He said huge grants were necessary for the prosecution of the war but so far the house had not reviewed closely the way in which war funds were spent.

"I insist it is the duty of this house to exercise more care than it has been exercising in regard to these grants," said Mr. Coldwell.

Imports Seed From Alberta

Clipping from Iowa Paper Tells of Imperial Seed Company, Starting with Alberta Grain Selling in Many States

A clipping from an Iowa paper turned in to this office tells of the progress being made by the Imperial Seed company of Clear Lake, Iowa, which raises seed grain from seed imported from Alberta. Quite a flourishing business has developed. One of the owners of the company has 17,000 acres near Lacombe, which he has farmed for over 25 years without one crop failure.

The article says: "Realizing the great superiority of the small grain seed raised in Alberta, the owners of Imperial Seed Company decided long ago that it would be beneficial to the farmers of Iowa to raise grain imported from Alberta. That great seed raising country makes a specialty of breeding and cross-breeding small grains, and prizes at Chicago go year after year to seed raisers from Alberta."

"In the spring of 1939 it was decided to import small quantities of seeds and have them tried in Iowa. This was done in the spring of 1939 and four varieties of seed were sent to the Imperial Seed company, from Alberta. All were planted on farms in Iowa and all did so well that the seed offered for sale by this company has been purchased in great quantities by farmers throughout the mid-west."

"The company has sold seed in Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri and Nebraska. The company is represented by more than 400 local seed dealers, elevators, and farmers covering the territory."

"Orders have been received all the way from three bushels to 336 bushels and the price of the seed, regardless of the size of the order, is the same to all, per bushel. The company been delivered. The company expects to sell more than 100,000 bushels before the season closes."

What Certificates Will Purchase

Ammunition, Bombs, Anti-aircraft Guns, Parachutes, Bren Guns, Army Trucks

For the benefit of Canadians who wonder how far their war savings certificate purchases will go in this age of mechanization the munitions and supply department issued the approximate cost of several instruments of war.

For instance—every time a fighter has now sold more than 40,000 bush-pilot fires 100 rounds of .303 ammunition, the equivalent of one $5 Canadian war savings certificate has gone into the battle against the enemy. A 50-pound bomb costs from $80 to $200, depending on the type.

A complete Bofors 40-millimetre anti-aircraft gun costs some $12,500. Each complete round of ammunition for this weapon costs about $6. Big brother of the 40-millimetre gun in the 3.7-inch quick-firing gun, costing roughly $70,000. Every shell it fires means a $20 expenditure.

"Purely nominal prices have been fixed by the British air ministry, for purposes of public subscription campaigns, on Spitfire and Hurricane fighters and British bombing planes, the former at $25,000 and the latter at $50,000," the department said.

Elementary trainers, such as the Tiger Moths and Fleets used in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, cost between $8,000 and $8,500, while advanced trainers, such as the Harvard, run from $30,000 to $35,000.

The fine silk parachutes of the seat pack type used by Canadian airmen are worth about $235 each.

University carriers, which run on caterpillar treads and which now are considered as indispensable equipment of the modern infantry unit, cost about $5,000 each. The Bren machine guns mounted in the carriers are worth about $450 apiece. Heavy infantry tanks, veritable land battle cruisers, run between $90,000 and $100,000 complete. The ordinary three-ton army truck, which fills a variety of needs in mechanization of the land forces, is worth about $1,500.

The cost of equipping a full infantry battalion of 41 officers and 896 other ranks for service in the field, including personal equipment, motorized transport, universal carriers, Bren machine guns, and general stores, falls just under the $300,000 mark.

A minesweeper costs about $575,000 while a corvette is worth approximately $650,000. A Fairmile patrol boat can be obtained for about $130,000.

Brewing Industry Donating Space

This patriotic offer has been accepted by the Hon. J. L. Halsey in behalf of the Government and the newspaper advertising space will be devoted to the campaign to invest in War Savings Certificates. In his acceptance of this offer, the Minister of Finance thanked the Brewing Industry of the Province for the Government of Canada and termed it "a very generous and patriotic offer."
